

No matter how hard I work on mastering the tracks and songs, it is never sounding good enough for me. When do I stop working on it?

NOW, it's like painting, never ending....keep in mind that one more month you will work and it & maybe you will have chance to enhance quality for 1-10% with the risk to loose quality...spontaneity is needed, ART IS NEVER PERFECT, just a way...and with mental illness I think that you enhance risk to loose quality...and this NEW OBSESSION is not good for you, your mind, keep energy for new things. I THINK YOU HAVE MADE MAXIMUM FOR THIS NEW RELEASE, you worked a lot for this project and I want to congratulate you.

think about new things we can make now, you just need to have "crescendo" quality 3 better than 2 and 4 will be better; maybe perfection at

It never sounds perfect. Am I crazy but the songs are never just right. Maybe wrong with my ears, but it is never ever good enough. It sounds better and better the more I work, but it never sounds just right. It always sounds more and better.

It is a sickness in my mind and heart. A gift sickness of sound for you anTonee AlDol.

Sam & Anthony are crazy this is our power
